Long Branch, N. J., Sept. 10.—After the dispatch last night the President had a considerable increase of fever, and indeed a rise of pulse and temperature. Every night has become a significant feature in his case. Through the day and especially this afternoon he has grown more comfortable. A cold has grown more comfortable. A cold easterly storm has prevailed since early morning without any effect thus far on his condition. Blaine, Sec'y.

RESUME OF THE CASE. Long Branch, Sept. 10.—The weather has been stormy and disagreeable all day, but so far as the President is concerned, it may be summed up as having been very favorable, reports to the contrary notwithstanding. Boynton said this afternoon that the President had a little more fever last night and during the febrile rise his pulse ran up comparatively high, but no serious apprehension was caused by it. This morning the President is not so bright as yesterday and his general condition not as favorable, but after the dressing he commenced to improve and is now probably as well as he was this time yesterday. There is no cause for alarm or unfavorable statements of the case. There will be some days which will not be as favorable as others. The attending surgeons say the morning bulletin tells the whole story. It is the idea of Dr. Bliss to make the bulletin more detailed and comprehensive. Notwithstanding a slight rise in the pulse and temperature noted in the p ther than this little can be said, inasmuch as there are no details to explain, and the President is certainly gaining ground without the appearance of unfavorable symptoms or indications.
